BIOGRAPHY OF MOTHER SETON

(1774 – 1821)

Elizabeth Ann Bayley was born August 28, 1774 in New York City. Her father, Dr. Richard Bayley, was a prominent physician and surgeon and the first Health Officer in New York City. Her mother, Catherine Charlton Bayley, the daughter of an Episcopal minister, died May 8, 1777 leaving three children, Mary (7), Elizabeth (2), and an infant, Catherine, who died two years later. Dr. Richard Bayley died of yellow fever in 1801.

A year after his wife died, Dr. Richard Bayley married Charlotte Amelia Barclay. They had four children. Mary and Elizabeth spent their summers with their Uncle William Bayley at the Pell Bayley House in New Rochelle, New York.

Elizabeth Bayley married William Magee Seton, a wealthy shipping magnate on January 25, 1794. They had five children: Anna Maria (May 3, 1795); William (November 25, 1796); Richard (July 20, 1798); Catherine (June 28, 1800); and Rebecca (August 20, 1802).

William Magee Seton suffered financial ruin and died of tuberculosis December 27, 1803 in Italy leaving Elizabeth a poor young widow with five small children.

Anna Maria, the eldest daughter, at 8 years of age, went to Italy with her parents where her ailing father died. She became affectionately called Annina by her mother. Anna Maria, as her father, died of tuberculosis March 12, 1812.

Elizabeth Seton, raised in the Episcopal Church, converted to Catholicism. She received her first Holy Communion in March 25, 1805. To raise and educate her own children, she became a teacher and wanted all children, boys and girls, to receive free education. At the Pace Street House in Baltimore she founded her first Catholic school.

On March 25, 1809 Elizabeth Seton pronounced vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. Henceforth, she became known as Mother Seton. She began the Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph on July 31, 1809 at the Stone House in Emmitsburg, Maryland.

Mother Seton established St. Joseph's Academy, the first Catholic parochial school in the United States.

Elizabeth Seton died of tuberculosis on January 4, 1821 at the age of 47. Her remains are sealed in the Basilica of St. Elizabeth Ann Seton in Emmitsburg, Maryland.

In September 1975, Elizabeth Seton became the first native-born American to be canonized as a saint. A tapestry bearing her image hung over the entrance to St. Peter's Basilica in Rome.

BRIEF HISTORY

Seton Hall University was founded in 1856 by Bishop James Roosevelt Bayley, the first bishop of Newark, who named it after his aunt, Elizabeth Ann Seton, a pioneer in Catholic education and the first American-born saint. The University is the oldest diocesan university in the United States. Nestled on 58 acres in the suburban village of South Orange, New Jersey, Seton Hall's campus is home to eight schools and colleges: the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Education and Human Services, the College of Nursing, the School of Diplomacy and International Relations, the School Health and Medical Sciences, the Stillman School of Business, and Immaculate Conception Seminary School of Theology. Seton Hall's eighth school, the School of Law, is located in Newark, New Jersey. The Division of Continuing Education and Professional Studies is located on the South Orange campus.

From its original enrollment of a handful of students, Seton Hall grew rapidly. During its first 12 years, the College enrolled more than 500 freshmen from 17 states and six foreign countries. Seton Hall always has reflected the growing ethnic scope of its students and the increasing diversity of the Church and society it has served. In the 19th century, in spite of setbacks, major fires, lean times and the Civil War, the College continued to expand. By 1937, Seton Hall established a University College. This marked the first matriculation of women at Seton Hall. The University became fully coeducational in 1968.

The years after World War II witnessed unprecedented growth for Seton Hall as it responded to the needs of thousands of veterans seeking higher education. The College was organized into a university in 1950, comprising the College of Arts and Sciences and the schools of Business, Nursing and Education. The School of Law opened its doors in 1951 and the School of Diplomacy and International Relations was established in 1997.

The next two decades saw the construction and modernization of a large number of facilities and the construction of the library, science building, residence halls and the University Center. Many new programs and majors were inaugurated. New ties were established with the private and industrial sectors, and a growing partnership developed with federal and state governments in creating programs for the economically and educationally disadvantaged.

The 1970s and 1980s continued to be a time of growth and renewal. New business and nursing classroom buildings and an art center were opened. In 1984, Immaculate Conception Seminary returned to Seton Hall, its original home until 1927, when it moved to Darlington. With construction of four new residence halls between 1986-1988, the purchase of off-campus apartment buildings in 1990 and 2004, and the expansion of Aquinas Hall in 2014, Seton Hall now provides living space for approximately 2,300 students.

The physical development of the campus continued. In 1994, construction was completed on the $20 million, four-story Walsh Library. Jubilee Hall was erected in 2006 and currently houses the College of Education and Human Services, the Stillman School of Business, and the departments of Sociology, Anthropology & Social Work, Psychology, and Political Science & Public Affairs. The Science and Technology Center opened in Fall 2007. This state of the art facility houses the departments of Biological Studies, Chemistry and Biochemistry, Mathematics and Computer Science, and Physics. Stafford Hall opened in Fall 2014 providing much needed classroom space.

When the Sesquicentennial of Seton Hall was observed in 2006, we looked back on the prophetic concluding words from the 1956 centenary history of the University: "Seton Hall University's great boast and claim to fame is not predicated on expansion, buildings or even curriculum. It lies rather in the hearts and minds of a dedicated and devoted faculty." Seton Hall's history has been one primarily of people: students and faculty living and working together in a community of learning, a community rooted in a Catholic tradition that is a home for the mind, the heart and the spirit.

 Note: "Adjusted Freshman Cohort" excludes deceased students where death occurred during matriculation, or students determined not to have entered as full-time freshmen after census date reporting. The appropriate adjustments were made to the entering class size.

† Note: The attrition rates in the table are the number of entering fall freshmen who were not enrolled in the next fall semester.

‡ Note: Beginning with the entering Fall 2006 class, the special admits category includes Seton Summer Scholars.

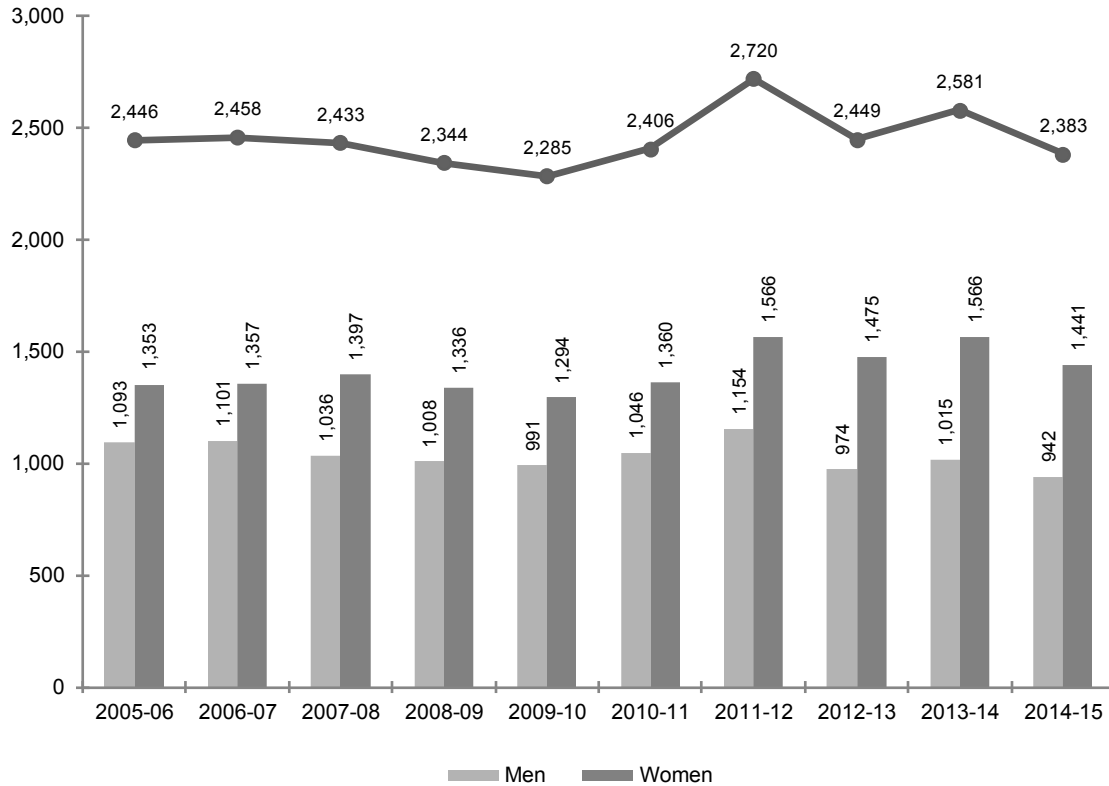

§ Note: The breakdowns "By Resident Status" is based on the student's entering status and is kept at that value.

* Note: "By Entering College" breakdowns may exclude students who switched between majors in their first semester, as well as students who switched between status undeclared and a major before or during their first semester.

†† Note: The Arts & Sciences breakdowns include, in addition to students admitted to A&S majors, all students admitted with status "undeclared". Status "undeclared" applies both to students not admitted to their major of choice and to students undecided as to choice of major.

NATIONAL SURVEY OF STUDENT ENROLLMENT (NSSE)

Results of 2015 Administration

In Spring 2015 Seton Hall participated in the National Survey of Student Engagement study; receiving a comprehensive set of metrics that “measure the extent to which students engage in effective educational practices that are empirically linked with learning, personal development, and other desired outcomes such as persistence, satisfaction, and graduation.” *

A total of 718 Seton Hall undergraduate students participated, including 449 first-year students and 269 seniors, with a response rate of 30%. The Seton Hall rate is well above the average response rate of 23% for universities with student enrollments of a size comparable to that of SHU.

Observations, organized, by NSSE theme:

- Theme 1: Academic Challenge. Seton Hall first year results are statistically higher than peers for one of the theme’s four engagement indicators, Learning Strategies; and are comparable within each of the remaining three. SHU senior results suggest theme improvements in later year experiences, since two more indicators for SHU seniors prove higher relative to peer seniors: Higher Order Learning and Reflective & Integrative Learning, in addition to Learning Strategies. For Quantitative Reasoning metrics, the other indicator in this theme, Seton Hall results are statistically neither higher nor lower than peer results, whether review is by first year or senior student level.
- Theme 2: Learning with Peers. For one of the two indicators defining this theme, Discussions with Diverse Others, Seton Hall students appear well in front of students at peer institutions; with SHU seniors further in front of peers than SHU first year students relative to first years at participating peers. For the second indicator, Collaborative Learning, SHU first year results are comparable. But, as seen with theme 1, senior year results climb, and to a point statistically significant and suggestive of levels of collaborative learning at SHU substantively higher than at peers, by senior year.
- Theme 3: Experiences with Faculty. In one of the two indicators, Student-Faculty Interaction, latest results reveal Seton Hall levels of contact well above peer institutions, whether experiences are those of a first year or a senior. In the other, Effective Teaching Practices, this is not seen. Among individual questions comprising the second, SHU results are higher for some but, lower for others – with one comparing unfavorably (for first year only) and revealing a gap with peers significant and fairly substantive: faculty use of examples or illustrations to explain difficult points.
- Theme 4: High Impact Practices (formerly part of Enriching Educational Experiences). Latest results confirm two long noted SHU strengths within this theme: seniors completing culminating experiences and internships or field experiences. Two concerns noted last year continued for 2015: decreasing proportions of seniors responding they have worked with faculty on a research project; and, they have done a study abroad program. For study abroad, senior results suggest a SHU participation rate five percentage points lower than

* NSSE 2015 Overview from Indiana University Center for Postsecondary Research, available from:
http://nsse.indiana.edu/2015_Institutional_Report/pdf/NSSE%202015%20Overview.pdf

peers. Also, one concern in this theme apparent in first year results: lower participation in a learning community. A learning experience possibly now offered less by SHU, though results on the NSSE survey cannot characterize whether a lower rate is due to less opportunity or fewer who opt in.

- Theme 5: Campus Environment. For one of the two indicators, Supportive Environment, now a sub-theme of Campus Environment, latest SHU NSSE data suggest students perceive a campus more supportive at Seton Hall than at peer schools, both first year and senior year students. This is not evident in data that connect to the other now distinct and separate indicator, Quality of Interactions. On questions characterizing this aspect of an undergraduate student's campus experiences, SHU results are higher for some (interactions with student services staff; also with advisors) and lower for others (interactions with other administrative offices, e.g. registrar or financial aid; and interactions with faculty). Within the mixed results for this indicator, no negative differences between SHU and peer results proved statistically significant.

value in lower row: "sel", ie SHU selected, set⁵ among Carnegie peer participants) how to interpret comparison indicators included in the dashboard cells:

latest SHU to prior SHU (NSSE 2015 versus NSSE 2014): latest SHU results^{2012 or 2015} to latest Peer results^{2012 or 2015}

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▲ an increase (significant or substantive) ▼ a decrease (significant or substantive) ● no change (or ●^{up} or ●_{down} but not signif & not subst) 	(row 1: SHU vs Peer results - last available as NSSE Benchmarks¹) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> SHU significantly higher than Peer group^{4 or 5} average (p<.05) ✘ SHU significantly lower than Peer group^{4 or 5} average (p<.05)
---	---

¹NSSE ORIG Benchmarks. Composite scores on a 100 point scale; combining responses to benchmark themed questions used 2001-12.

²NSSE 2013-15 Engagment Indicators. Scores on 60 point scale; combining responses to re-themed & modified questions used 2013-15.

³NSSE 2013-15 High Impact Practices. Proportions responding with done/in progress(/planned, if frosh, for certain HIPs eg Study Abroad).

⁴Carnegie "c" average values across all NSSE '12 participating universities in SHU's same carnegie group (Basic 2000 category)*
"p" average values across all NSSE '15 participating private doctoral granting universities (41 private universities)
Rationale for comparing with "p" set instead of "c": widen to include all doctoral universities; narrow to consider privates only.
A list identifying the "p" universities (for NSSE 2015 there were 41) is available from SHU Institutional Research, on request.

⁵Select "sel" set of schools:
A select set of 6 from among all universities participating in either 2012 or 2015, deemed either similar to or aspirational for SHU.
(similar to SHU in size/academics/other key characteristic, possibly more so than default Carnegie groups "c" or "p")

⁶selected 6 2012: Catholic University, DePaul University, Loyola Chicago, St John's University, Syracuse, Villanova

⁷selected 6 2015: Fordham University, Loyola Chicago, St Louis U, U of San Francisco, U of St. Thomas, Villanova

* Note: Beginning in 2007-08 the university began charging full-time undergraduates flat-rate tuition, which covers 12 to 18 credits each semester. Prior to 2007-08, students were charged per credit hour. Annual tuition in years prior to 2007-08 were based on a 30 credit hour load.

† Note: Beginning in the 2008-09, a two-tier flat-rate was introduced for four years. Newly enrolled students entering fall 2008 and after were charged a slightly higher flat-rate than those who entered prior to fall 2008 and continued at the university. In the calculation of annual tuition charges from 2008-09 through 2011-12, the higher new student flat-rate charge was used.

‡ Note: Required fees include both the university fee for full-time students and the mobile computing fee. The one-time orientation fee is not included.
